About Wyoming Tree Academy

The Wyoming Tree Academy (WTA) is Wyoming's premier educational event for arboriculture, urban forestry, plant health care, and community forestry professionals.

Hosted annually in Wyoming, the Wyoming Tree Academy brings together professionals from across the state and surrounding region for education, networking, and professional development opportunities.

The 2026 Academy will be hosted in Cheyenne and will feature internationally recognized speakers, a Plant Health Care Workshop, a Saluting Branches service project, an awards dinner, networking events, and a field tour of the High Plains Arboretum.

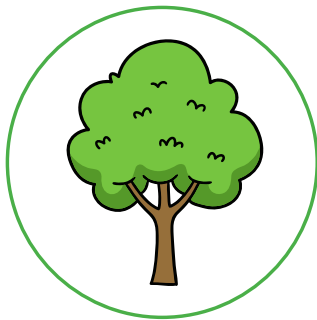

Featured keynote speaker Dr. Cecil Konijnendijk, creator of the internationally recognized 3-30-300 rule, will headline the 2026 Academy and bring a global perspective on urban forestry and resilient tree programs.

Why Sponsor Wyoming Tree Academy?

Sponsoring the Wyoming Tree Academy demonstrates commitment to professional education, workforce development, and the stewardship of Wyoming's urban forests. Sponsorship provides valuable visibility, meaningful networking opportunities, and direct engagement with the professionals, organizations, and communities working to strengthen Wyoming's tree care industry.
